

Should You Hire an Interior Designer?

Many people have prejudices of hiring a professional interior designer.

There can be many reasons for that

- No clarity about the services.
- They can save the fees on consulting and use it for buying material.
- They feel they can select the designs on internet and hire labour like carpenters; painters etc and get it done.
- They think that designers suggest an expensive finishes.

Has it ever happened to you

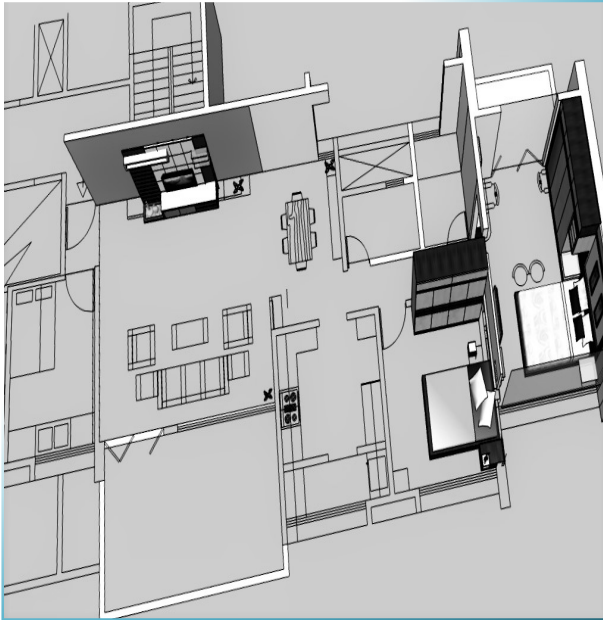

- You got multiple opinions about the colour selection and got your walls painted twice or thrice.
- Wanted to make some furniture piece exactly like the one in magazine but the final product looks unproportionate one?
- A furniture item that looked so great in shop and feels oversized in your home?
- Tired of following up with the carpenters, painters, electrician Or vendors?
- Never know if they will come for maintenance again?
- Tired of shopping/ following up? Quality and quantity check?
- Fell in love with some finishing material but don't know what it is exactly called or where can you get it or how to check the quality or if it is suitable to the theme of your home ?
- The final completion date is getting postponed due to absence or irregular timings and leaves of these people?
- Joy of new home and getting in a dream house is fadingIts no longer enjoyable but has become an hassle while managing your office, daily life routine?
